

[NEWDORS]

DeVille Fine Jewelry

Liz Glanville's Tanglewood Showroom

By Laurann Claridge October 21, 2010

Keys to the Door: Owner Elizabeth Glanville.

Stocked Goods: Her CV includes glittering tenures at both Cartier and Bulgari in the Galleria, as well as bringing Ashford.com (the once booming Houston Internet behemoth) into the realm of fine jewelry and gifts. Now Liz Glanville is hanging her own shingle in a showroom in Tanglewood, where her DeVille Fine Jewelry is showcased in quite a different way. Gone are the foreboding locked glass cases, which can discourage touching and trying on. Instead, the atelier displays its jewelry collections in frosted acrylic cubes. You won't find designer labels here, as the collections are made in small boutique workshops in Europe, Asia and the States, where custom pieces are also created. Since she started doing trunk shows in the city 2 ½ years ago, she has quietly garnered a reputation for keeping her retail prices reasonable, preferring to forgo wholesale clients and deal directly with those who will wear the jewelry instead. Open Wednesdays and by appointment only. 5700 Woodway, Suite 250281.501.3810; devillefinejewelry.com.